Opening Soon in the coorg

A Luxurious Villa Experience Like No Other

We are delighted to announce the opening of our upcoming luxury villa in the enchanting Nilgiris, a destination celebrated for its natural beauty, cool climate and timeless charm. Nestled amidst endless stretches of lush tea plantations, the villa is designed to offer a serene retreat where the mist covered hills meet refined comfort. Every corner has been thoughtfully crafted to provide an unparalleled stay for travelers seeking exclusivity, privacy, and a deep connection with nature.

From the Chairman's Desk

As FY25's fourth quarter comes to a close, India's hospitality sector is entering a promising phase. New GST reforms are set to improve cash flows and encourage greater domestic travel, while rising valuations of premium hospitality brands reflect growing investor confidence. Hospitality is increasingly being seen as a resilient, long-term investment that blends strong returns with lifestyle-driven appeal.

At the same time, destinations like Munnar are emerging as key growth hubs, supported by government initiatives and global recognition, including being named among Asia's top rural destinations by Agoda. At Tri World Capita, we see this as a pivotal moment, through IHRL, Foliage Hospitality LLP, and our Mirth-branded developments, we continue to invest in sustainable hospitality that delivers both meaningful experiences and lasting value.

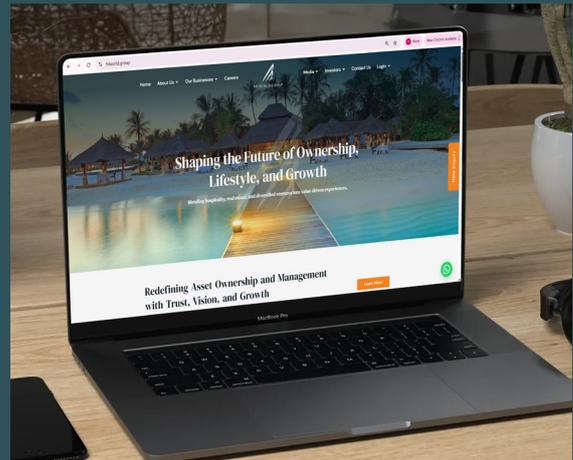

Looking ahead, our focus remains on building destinations that are thoughtfully designed, environmentally responsible, and deeply connected to local culture. As travel preferences evolve toward meaningful and immersive experiences, we believe this is the right time to shape hospitality assets that not only perform financially but also contribute to the long-term growth of India's tourism ecosystem.

The wait is nearly over

The High-Performance Camp 2025 was a transformative experience for our young footballers, providing an exceptional opportunity to train in a professional, high-performance environment. Mirroring international standards, the camp focused on advanced technical training, tactical awareness, physical conditioning, and mental resilience—essential elements for competing at higher levels of the game. The energy and enthusiasm of the participants created an inspiring atmosphere that pushed everyone to give their best.

Training at world-class facilities allowed players to refine their skills and gain exposure to elite football methodologies. Emphasizing discipline, teamwork, and a professional mindset, the camp nurtured growth both on and off the field. The dedication and passion shown by these athletes highlight the promising future of football and mark a significant milestone for H16 Sports in shaping the next generation of talent. We look forward to seeing these young stars achieve new heights in their football journeys. Their commitment and progress throughout the camp set a strong foundation for success in the years to come.

Munnar to be a global Responsible Tourism destination by December

The State plans to declare the destination a Responsible and Resilient Tourism Destination by December 2025. Ahead of this, the government will implement several sustainable and women-friendly tourism initiatives under the Responsible Tourism Mission. An amount of ₹50 lakh has been sanctioned to support branding and preparatory activities for the declaration.

The wait is nearly over

As the project moves closer to completion, every detail at Meluha Melody reflects a commitment to quality, aesthetics, and functionality. The internal finishing works ranging from premium flooring to elegant fixtures are being executed with precision, ensuring that each home delivers a refined living experience. Attention to ventilation, natural light, and spatial flow further enhances the sense of openness and comfort, making every residence feel warm, modern, and thoughtfully designed.

Beyond the individual homes, the overall environment is coming together as a vibrant, well-planned community. Pathways, green pockets, and shared spaces are being shaped to encourage connection, relaxation, and everyday well-being. With construction progressing steadily and milestones being achieved on schedule, Meluha Melody is fast transforming from a vision into a welcoming address where families can create lasting memories and experience a truly balanced lifestyle.

Kerala Leading the Future of Zero Carbon Tourism

Kerala is steadily emerging as a national leader in Zero Carbon Tourism by seamlessly integrating sustainability with its rich natural and cultural heritage. Initiatives such as solar-powered houseboats in Alappuzha, eco-sensitive resorts in Wayanad, and responsible trekking practices in Munnar highlight the state's commitment to minimizing environmental impact while enhancing visitor experiences. Through renewable energy adoption, plastic-free tourism zones, community-driven conservation efforts, and the protection of the Western Ghats' biodiversity, Kerala is setting a benchmark for tourism that is both environmentally responsible and culturally enriching. By balancing growth with conservation, the state is shaping a future where tourism benefits both nature and local communities.

A Smarter Move Towards a Sustainable Future

Nestled in the emerald valleys of Munnar's mist-kissed hills, Tri World Capita is charting a new course in hospitality one that harmonizes luxury with responsibility. As a leading name in the travel and tourism sector, Tri World Capita stands as a symbol of forward-thinking hospitality where comfort coexists with conscience.

As a brand rooted in the heart of nature, Tri World Capita is redefining the tourism experience through a single, powerful vision: To make sustainability the cornerstone of every journey.

Tourism has the power to transform economies, uplift communities and celebrate cultures. Yet, when practiced responsibly it also becomes a guardian of the environment. Tri World Capita's sustainable tourism model is built on this balance ensuring that today's travellers can explore without compromising tomorrow's world.

The true beauty of Kerala lies in its biodiversity its lush forests, vibrant wildlife and rich ecosystem. Tri World Capita actively supports the preservation of natural habitats through environmentally responsible development, waste management and awareness campaigns

When nature flourishes, tourism flourishes too.

Our mission is to build experiences that bring people closer to nature while protecting the very landscapes that inspire them. Each project, each policy and each partnership reflects our pledge to create harmony between people, profit and planet.

From the tranquil tea gardens to the whispering hills of Munnar, we invite you to discover hospitality that heals a journey that gives back more than it takes. A SUSTAINABLE TOURISM experience.

By investing in sustainable tourism, Tri World Capita is shaping a model of hospitality that the world truly needs one where every stay supports nature, every journey empowers people and every destination thrives for generations to come

Why Last-Minute Travel No Longer Saves You Money

Last-minute travel, once known for great deals, is no longer the budget-friendly option it used to be. Especially for hill stations, waiting until the last moment often means paying significantly more than expected. With a limited number of premium properties available, prices surge quickly as demand peaks.

In addition, shortages of drivers and restricted entry slots for popular experiences like jeep safaris and Eravikulam National Park make last-minute planning even tougher. Travelers often face fewer room options, higher costs, and missed experiences turning what should be a relaxing getaway into a stressful scramble. What once seemed like a smart way to score a deal has now become a costly gamble, especially during peak travel seasons. Planning ahead is no longer just convenient, it's essential to secure better prices, availability, and peace of mind.

Kerala Tourism to pursue global MICE and destination weddings in a big way

Kerala Tourism department and the private tourism industry of the state under Kerala Travel Mart (KTM) Society made a big statement of intent to go after global MICE and Destination Weddings at the first ever Wedding & MICE conclave 2025 held in Kochi.

A fruitful haven in the Western Ghats

Kanthalloor, Kerala View

In the verdant embrace of the western ghats in Kerala, Kanthalloor is a serene village that enchants you with its pristine beauty and unique offerings. It has earned the nickname ‘Kashmir of Kerala’ due to its remarkable beauty, appealing climate, and alluring apple plantations. Kanthalloor is the only place in Kerala, where apples are grown. While apples take centre stage, the agricultural diversity of Kanthalloor extends way beyond that. The village is widely recognised for its diverse production of fruits, such as oranges, plums, peaches, and various other exotic fruits, that flourish due to its unique climate.

Munnar’s Mattupetty to get a facelift in ₹1.07-crore project

Mattupetty, one of the favourite tourist hotspots at the Munnar hill station, will undergo a facelift under the Tourism department’s “Development and Beautification of Mattupetty Dam” tourism project. According to Tourism department officials, the department has sanctioned ₹1.07 crore for the beautification and provision of basic amenities in the area.

The catchment area of the Mattupetty dam near Munnar in Idukki.

According to officials, the money is allotted for setting up a waiting shed, electrical work, a rain shelter, a pathway, a ticket counter, a security cabin, sitting benches, steps, solar lights, and landscaping. The officials stated that they will complete the works within nine months.

Step into Kanthalloor, where mist-kissed hills, fertile valleys, and warm village life invite you to slow down, breathe deep, and experience Kerala at its purest. Come, wander through nature’s bounty and let every moment turn into a memory.
